CORONAVIRUS
The Animal Human
Relationship 3rd & 4th
Planetary Kingdoms

scritto da

PAUL WRIGHT

Humanity, being the highest developed kingdom of planet Earth has a unique responsibility towards the kingdoms below it. This is because each lower kingdoms aspire towards that which is immediately above it as a dynamic of its own evolutionary process.

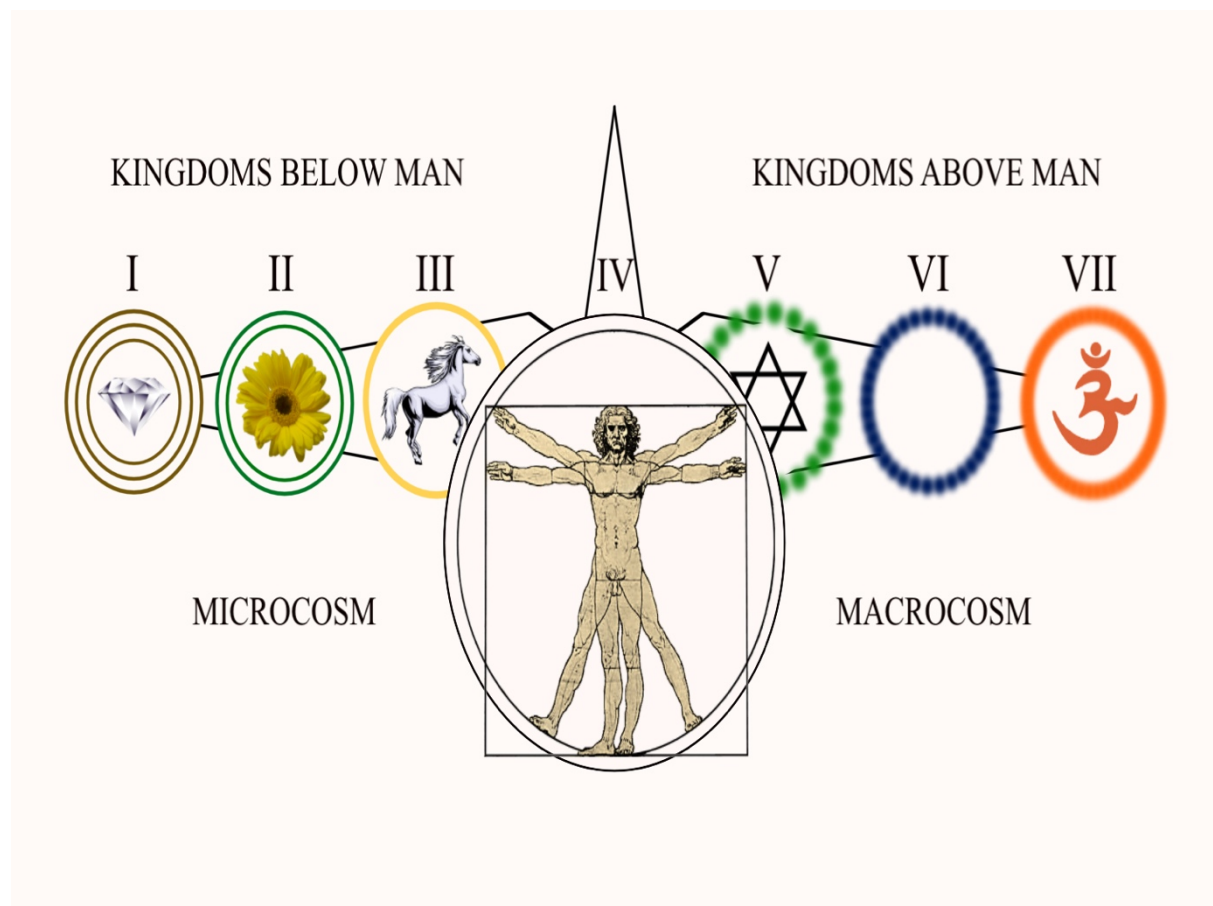

The human kingdom must keep in mind its own origins in order to be able to fulfil such responsibility. It must remember that it is simply a break-away kingdom that emerged [and still emerging] from the animal kingdom itself.

To understand such origins, one must address the matter of Consciousness.

Consciousness... is the development of a gradual expansion of capacity to be aware of the environment, whatever that environment might be.

Therefore, the five kingdoms of nature... mineral, vegetable, animal, human, spiritual... embody some type of consciousness which develops through the adjustment of karma:

- a) Through the agency of force [compulsory/voluntary karma – WILL RAYS]
- b) Through providing the right conditions.

Man Perceptions of his own nature

Man [Human Kingdom] – is the macrocosm for the three lower kingdoms; in him, these three lines of development [processes] are "synthesised"* and come to their full fruition.

* "synthesised" in Man – meaning that the animal development phase is part of his own evolution, makeup and identity.

If this is so, then Man has to realise that when he treats the animal kingdom with cruelty, he is also doing this primarily to himself. It is therefore his self-undoing. Man creates karma "with himself"; a karma of cruelty and delinquency toward himself. But man remains oblivious of his true history. He is born indoctrinated by his environment, education, beliefs and social perceptions; perception that have been long rooted in the illusion of materialism.

But such social perception can change. The new science of quantum, resulting from a paradigm shift, suggests that our vision of an external world environment is but a projection of man's own inner nature.

It is a purely subjective and individual perception of the nature of reality. If so, then Man's perception of his own animal nature is also a projection of part of his own overall personal nature and identity. If so, Man has to learn to be grateful to the animal kingdom for it was once a means for him to take the next step in his evolution in search of his true origin and identity.

A necessity arises for a re-examination of one's own nature and history going back to his own divine origins; but during such recap one passes through a phase of "animal-man" where man was in the early process of individualisation, yet still vary much at the mercy of the then more powerful animal kingdom, where man was preyed upon and decimated; where the toll of human life was incalculable. It is this instinctual memory even today in modern man, that lies at the root of his cruelty to animals. It is such karma that is being worked out, yet modern man having developed his intellect is bound by a sense of responsibility and should refrain from any instinctual fear of the animal kingdom which is reflected in his cruelty and exploitation of animals, leading to diseases such as Man currently experiences [Coronavirus].

In light of such history, average modern man may be tempted to justify in some way turning the table onto the animal kingdom in some weird sense of justifiable revenge. But this is simply "an-eye-for-an-eye" doctrine which once prevailed in human/social law. But this has long been overturned by recent avatars, yet man still feels its shadow and falls prey to its excessive ravages as a result.

The Human Kingdom should move away from such current attitudes of exploitation and profiteering at the expense of the animal kingdom through the understanding of the origin of such instinctual fear and take on the burden of responsibility to further the domestication of animals in order to aid in the evolution, thus raising their kingdom's consciousness leading to individuation and passage through the door to the human kingdom through which current modern man himself had once passed.

The process of individuation entails the extraction/separation from the group-soul entity of the 3rd kingdom to an individualised soul entity of the 4th human kingdom.

In Man...

Instinct – relates to his animal line [phase] of development and it is the embryonic unfoldment of what is later recognised by the intellect as “group consciousness”.

Intellect – relates him to his fellow man, the relationship between him and others; whereby the faculty of thinking is lacking in the animal who simply follows natural patterns [dictated by nature].

Intuition – puts man in touch with the kingdom above his own... the fifth kingdom of souls and reveals to him the awareness of divinity of life/consciousness.

For the initiated, the relationship between man and the animal is both physical and emotional, but gradually becoming more mental in its nature and man must learn to use the power of Ray Archetypes at his disposal with more intelligence if he is to affect the processes of individuation and where animal domesticity comes under Ray VI of Devotion & Idealism in tandem with RAY III, which allows animal and man to “adapt” in their relationship to one another in the process of domestication.

The incoming RAY VII will help the refinement of animal bodies and causes great destruction of present animal forms through the process of mutation both in the species and in its environment; but on a positive note, it will also help promote a closer relationship between the animal kingdom and the human kingdom.

REFLECTION ON MAN'S [DIVINE] ORIGIN & IDENTITY

Astrological – Spiritual DNA

The current pandemic with its self-isolation policy offers a lot of time for reflection on the nature of our being, which permeates across all dimensions of matter and spirit.

Question: "What does the horoscope for Covid-19 [see chart] indicate in terms of our origins?"

Genesis [origin] - is a first house affair and hence DNA. Generally, the focus of attention goes on physical DNA, regarded by science as the Origin of all physical manifestation. This is because physical life is the remit of orthodox science and can only operate within such physical boundaries. This is sufficient on the levels of mutable consciousness.

But Man on the Path, who is further advanced in the development of consciousness, has a wider vision of life beyond the physical, which incorporates dimensions of life whose vibrations are more acute and refined and that replicate everything that is physical, including a higher counterpart of physical DNA.

Hence metaphysically, we also consider the existence of emotional, mental and spiritual DNA counterparts of physical DNA. The higher the dimension, the more refined the respective energy properties and qualities.

Man's origins are of the highest divine order as pointed out by Christianity referring to man as the Prodigal Son, esoterically more familiarly referred to as the Monad.

The Monad is a projection of the divine Source Itself; an absolute mirror image of the source from which it emerges. This is the first genetics, which can also be referred to as Spiritual DNA.

Astrological References [see Covid-19 horoscope]

☿ ♁ 1♌ - Mercury in Capricorn in the First House with Sagittarius on the cusp]

Mercury is the esoteric ruler of Aries and the first house. We note that in the chart, Mercury is positioned in the sign of Capricorn in the 1st house.

Mercury rules "origin/beginnings". 1st House rules "genetics/genesis" and the "intrinsic nature/essence" [DNA] of things.

☿ ♁ 1♌ - is the "divine essence". ♁ is the "Father in Heaven".

So this aspect of Mercury is focussing humanity's attention on its divine origin and that Man's origin is divine, and that his innate essence is that of the Source Itself [Father's [Spiritual] DNA], a direct inheritance of the Father in Heaven to his Prodigal Son [Man]. source Both the ☉ ♁ & ♁ ♁ 1♌ also reflect the innate essence and origin of the source of Man.

♈4 – Aries on the cusp of the 4th house... indicates the triplicity of Man's being [Monad/Spirit... Soul... Personality/Matter].

The 4th house rules the masses of humanity and Aries on the cusp points to the original Identity of humanity at large.

♃*☾ - The sextile of Mercury to the Moon the opportunity to reflect[☾] on the nature of Man's divine origins and to identify with his true nature.

Reflection on Spiritual DNA leads to other occult mysteries that eventually unfold in the psyche of the initiate e.g., Spiritual DNA is closely associated with the heredity of the Christ Principle in Man.

Exercise: find other topics for reflection through the astrological aspects in the horoscope.
